Book Introduction: Show the cover of the book to the student and say this to the reader before he or she begins reading, "Mom's Secret is a story about a girl and her mother. The mother has a secret. Let's read to find out how the girl finds out about the secret."

Check the reading behaviors you notice the child using. These notes may not determine the reader's independent reading level, but will inform your teaching:

☐Keeps the accumulating story events (or content) in mind.

☐Uses meaning of accumulated text to figure out unfamiliar words.

☐Stops and self-corrects at the point of error.

☐Begins to demonstrate all aspects of fluency in portions of the text: automatic recognition of high-frequency words, problem-solving closer to the point of error, and reading with intonation and expression by using print features and story content.

Running Record: Student will read the first 100 words aloud and the rest of the text silently. Code and analyze miscues for the first 100 words. You may also choose to record and analyze miscues after 100 words for more information.
